EEA/CA/2017/1Project Manager – Chemicals, environment and human health Contract Agent (FG IV)

The European Environment Agency (EEA) is organising an open competition with a view to recruiting a contract agent to work as Project Manager in the area of chemicals, environment and human health and further with a view to establishing a reserve list.

THE AGENCY:

The EEA is an Agency of the European Union (EU) and one of the decentralised Union bodies. The EEA aims to support sustainable development and to help achieve significant and measurable improvement in Europe's environment, through the provision of timely, targeted, relevant and reliable information to policy-making agents and the public.

JOB DESCRIPTION:

Europe's chemical industry is growing faster than the economy as a whole, increasing the flows of chemicals through Europe's economy and releases to the environment – air, water and soil. Even small amounts of some chemicals can endanger human health. With such increasing impacts and improved scientific understanding of their effects on people and the ecosystems services that underpin human well-being, the challenge is to find the right balance between the societal benefits and societal risks and harm of chemicals.

Some chemicals, such as those containing heavy metals and persistent organic pollutants, have been known to be dangerous for many years already, while fears have been raised about many others recently such as endocrine disrupting chemicals and how they interfere with the normal functioning of the endocrine system. For most of these chemicals, however, relatively little is known about how they pass through the environment, whether they are accumulated, dispersed or transformed and what their combined health effects are in cases of human exposure to complex mixtures.

With the aim of addressing knowledge gaps and promoting innovative approaches, the European Commission launched a call for a European Human Biomonitoring Initiative, under Horizon 2020's Societal Challenge on health, demographic change and wellbeing. The objective is to create a European joint programme for monitoring and scientific assessment of human exposures to chemicals and potential health impacts in Europe, building on previous activities undertaken at EU and national levels.

The European Environment Agency is a partner in a consortium that has submitted a proposal under this Horizon 2020 call. The consortium is led by the German Environment Agency (UBA) and brings together leading European expertise on HBM from 22 EU Member States, as well as Norway, Iceland, Israel and Switzerland.

The European Joint Programme, entitled HBM4EU, will generate knowledge to inform the safe management of chemicals and so protect human health in Europe. Project partners will use human biomonitoring to understand human exposure to chemicals and resulting health impacts and will communicate with policy makers to ensure that our results are exploited in the design of new chemicals policies and the evaluation of existing measures.

This initiative contributes directly to the improvement of health and well-being for all citizens, by investigating how exposure to chemicals affects the health of different groups, such as children, pregnant women, fetuses and workers. Research will investigate how factor such as behaviour, lifestyle and socio-economic status influence internal exposure to chemicals across the EU population. In order to secure the impact of HBM4EU, EEA will ensure that this newly created knowledge is fed directly into policy making to reduce chemical exposure and protect human health.

Under the responsibility of the Head of Group – Green economy, reporting to the Head of the Integrated Environmental Assessment Programme, the Project Manager shall be responsible for working on information support and analysis in these areas.

The position will entail the following tasks:

- Contribute to the group's work on chemicals, environment and health;
- Act as a key reference person in the European Environment Agency for the HBM4EU project;
- Manage the HBM4EU work package on the knowledge hub, responsible for the communication and dissemination of HBM4EU results;
- Manage the HBM4EU work package on the prioritisation of substances for analysis and research under HBM4EU;

- Foster a strong link to policy makers in the EU Policy Board for HBM4EU, ensuring a dynamic exchange of information and promoting the uptake of HBM4EU results by policy makers;
- Support the development of synergies between HBM4EU and the Information Platform on Chemicals Monitoring (IPChem);
- Support the development of a long-term initiative for Europe on human biomonitoring; and
- Represent the Agency through networking with relevant external partners and stakeholders, in particular with the EU institutions and EEA member countries (EIONET network), and relevant EU Agencies (e.g. ECHA and EFSA).

Before recruiting an official, the appointing authority shall examine whether the candidate has any personal interest such as to impair his independence or any other conflict of interest. To that end, the candidate, using a specific form, shall inform the appointing authority of any actual or potential conflict of interest. For further information on the Staff Regulations and the Conditions of Employment of Other Servants of the European Union see: Staff Regulations.

SELECTION PROCEDURE:

A Selection Committee is set up for the selection procedure. It consists of members designated by the Appointing Authority and the Staff Committee. The Selection Committee is bound by the principle of confidentiality as enshrined in Article 6 of Annex III to the Staff Regulations. This works in two ways: first, it imposes obligations to ensure equal treatment for candidates; and second, it seeks to protect the Selection Committee to ensure that its decisions are totally impartial.

The Selection Committee adheres strictly to the conditions of admission laid down in the vacancy notice when deciding whether or not candidates are eligible. Candidates admitted to a previous selection procedure will not automatically be eligible. Candidates are strictly forbidden to make any contact with the members of the Selection Committee, either directly or indirectly. Any infringement of this rule will lead to disqualification from the selection procedure.

Should the Selection Committee discover at any stage in the procedure that the candidate does not meet one or more of the general or special conditions for admission to the selection procedure, the candidate will be disqualified.

The Selection Committee decides on those candidates who are admitted to the selection procedure in accordance with the requirements as specified under eligibility criteria. The applications of the candidates admitted to the selection procedure are reviewed to establish whether or not they show evidence of all requirements as specified under selection criteria. The Selection Committee will invite for an interview up to a maximum of 10 candidates that they deem best qualified. The interview will be held in English and the candidate's knowledge of other languages will also be assessed during the interview. Candidates invited for an interview will be asked to undergo a written test in the area of expertise required for the post. The test and the interview will take place in Copenhagen (Denmark) where the EEA has its seat and where the place of employment is.

At the end of the interviews the Selection Committee will submit the list of suitable candidates to the Appointing Authority who will decide on the appointment of the successful candidate and the establishment of a reserve list for the post advertised or similar posts that may become available. This usually follows from follow-up recruitment interviews conducted by the Appointing Authority with the suitable candidates. Candidates shall note that inclusion on the reserve list does not guarantee recruitment. Recruitment will be based on availability of posts and budget.

The reserve list for this post will be valid until 31 December 2018 and may be extended at the discretion of the Appointing Authority.

Prior to contract signature, the successful candidate will be asked:

- to provide original or certified copies of all relevant documents proving his/her eligibility, including a police certificate confirming the absence of any criminal record;
- to undergo a compulsory medical examination to establish that he/she meets the standard of physical fitness necessary to perform the duties involved.
