

Laura Höijer

Laura Höijer is Research Director at the Finnish Ministry of the Environment. She works in the Management support of the ministry, directly under the Permanent Secretary. Her duties include coordinating the ministry's foresight and research activities. She is a member in many advisory boards and committees, such as the Finnish Environment Institute, Helsinki Institute of Sustainability Science and Finnish Space Committee.

During her almost thirty years in the environmental field she has worked as a researcher, research funder, in business, in NGO and in administration. During 2018-2023 she took an absence of leave from the Ministry and worked in Baltic Sea Action Group, a Finnish NGO, first as Content Director and then as Managing Director. She holds a PhD in soil microbiology and is a Docent in microbial ecology.